MDC asks public to report hemorrhagic disease in Missouri Deer

The Missouri Department of Conservation (MDC) reports moderate levels of hemorrhagic disease (HD) activity in Missouri's deer population this summer. HD is a general term for epizootic hemorrhagic disease and the bluetongue virus.

MDC has recently confirmed HD in deer in Cole, Greene, Howell, Miller, St. Louis and Webster counties. MDC has also received at least 305 reports of additional suspected HD cases from locations throughout the state.

"Hemorrhagic disease is a naturally occurring virus that infects deer through the bite of a native midge commonly called no-see-ums or gnats," said MDC Wildlife Health Program Supervisor Deb Hudman. "HD outbreaks are most common in Missouri between July and October and HD transmission ends after a heavy frost kills the midges."

Clinical signs of HD in deer vary but may include an unwillingness to move, difficulty breathing, and swelling of the head, neck or tongue.

"HD can cause a high fever, prompting infected deer to seek water," Hudman said. "Deer that are sick may appear dazed, lethargic and nonresponsive. Deer that die from HD usually do so in a matter of days following infection and are often found dead in or near water with no outward signs of illness."

Hudman noted that not all deer die from HD and those deer that survive develop immunity. There is no cure or vaccine for HD and not much can be done to stop the disease from running its course. However, reports of deer with HD can help MDC biologists determine the impacts of the disease on deer numbers in specific areas.

"We receive reports of suspected cases of HD every year and ask the public to report suspected cases of HD to their local MDC office, conservation agent or to email the information to WildlifeHealth@mdc.mo.gov," said Hudman.

Hudman noted that humans do not get HD, so handling and consumption of meat from deer that have recovered from the disease poses no health hazard.

The most significant HD outbreak recorded in Missouri occurred in 2012 during an extreme drought.

"Outbreaks tend to be more severe in drought years because deer congregate near the limited water sources where midges are more likely to be present, thus increasing the likelihood of disease transmission," said Hudman.

Hunters harvested just shy of 300,000 deer during the 2022-2023 deer season – one of the highest harvests on record.

MDC Private Lands Deer Biologist Kevyn Wiskirchen indicated that there may be some impacts during this year's hunting season in localized areas that have experienced significant deer deaths from HD, but the overall hunting outlook remains good.

"For landowners that have found numerous dead deer this summer because of HD and are concerned about deer numbers on their property, reducing harvest pressure on does will help to mitigate the effects of HD," said Wiskirchen.

Based on the number of suspect HD reports received by MDC so far this season, Wiskirchen indicated that the locations where taking such measures are needed will likely be very limited.

MDC asks the public to report suspected cases of HD to a local MDC office, conservation agent or email information to WildlifeHealth@mdc.mo.gov.

Deer HD

HD or CWD?

HD and chronic wasting disease (CWD) both occur in Missouri and can show similar signs and symptoms.

CWD is a 100%-fatal illness in white-tailed deer and other members of the deer family, called cervids, and is slowly spreading in Missouri.

HD has periodically affected deer in Missouri for decades. HD can have significant short-term impacts on local deer numbers but has never been shown to have a long-term impact on the overall population.

Learn more about the comparison of HD and CWD symptoms, spread, and causes of the two diseases at mdc.mo.gov/hunting-trapping/species/deer/chronic-wasting-disease/cwd-vs-ehd.

Missouri "Shakeout" earthquake drill coming Oct. 19

Recent disasters in Morocco and Turkey serve as reminders of the destructive power of earthquakes. It's also an important reminder that one of the country's most active earthquake zones is located right here in Missouri. In 1811-12, the New Madrid Seismic Zone (NMSZ), centered in southeast Missouri, produced some of the most powerful earthquakes in U.S. history. Similar earthquakes today would lead to major damage and destruction.

To prepare for any future earthquakes, registration is now open for the 2023 Great Central U. S. ShakeOut earthquake drill on Thursday, Oct. 19. Missouri is one of 14 participating central U.S. states that could be impacted by a NMSZ earthquake.

"Missouri is home to a very large and active seismic zone," State Emergency Management Agency Director Jim Remillard said. "Earthquakes occur without warning, so it's important to prepare now. The ShakeOut drill is a great opportunity to practice so you know what to do when the shaking starts."

At 10:19 a.m. on Oct. 19, hundreds of thousands of Missourians will practice the "Drop, Cover, Hold On" technique:

- DROP to your hands and knees;
- COVER your head and neck with your hands and arms under a table or desk if you can; and
- HOLD ON until the shaking stops.

Studies show that in developed countries with modern structures, falling debris is the most common source of injury in an earthquake. Experts advise that when an earthquake occurs in the U.S., the "Drop, Cover and Hold On" technique is the best protection from falling debris.

To sign up for the ShakeOut, register online at www.shakeout.org/centralus. Schools, businesses, community organizations or any other group can register as well as families and individuals. Once registered, participants will receive regular updates on the drill and information on earthquake preparedness and safety.

The NMSZ is one of the most active earthquake zones in the country, averaging more than 200 small quakes per year. Another major earthquake in this zone would be felt not only in Missouri but throughout the Midwest, damaging much of the southern and eastern parts of the state, including the St. Louis metropolitan area. To learn more about earthquakes in Missouri and how to prepare, please visit sema.dps.mo.gov/earthquake_preparedness.

Phelps Health
YOUR HEALTH. OUR MISSION.

PHELPS HEALTH PATIENTS Henry and Rose Dahms

IN 2016, HENRY AND ROSE DAHMS first visited Phelps Health for an emergency situation and were impressed with their care.

Since that time, the Salem, Missouri, couple has chosen Phelps Health for their primary care, podiatry, and heart and vascular needs, and speak highly of their doctors' kindness and thoroughness. The Dahms also appreciate the convenience of the MyChart app and the helpful, considerate staff in the billing department.

"We choose Phelps Health because of the care we get," said Henry. "The providers here take the time to talk to you to find out what your concerns are and what you've got going on, before treating you. They treat the whole patient. Not only the physical, but the mental part. And many times, the spiritual part, too."

Anonymous donors dedicate $50,000 endowed scholarship in honor of Ozark Mountain Daredevils

Drury University is proud to announce that two donors, who wished to remain anonymous, have dedicated $50,000 toward an endowed scholarship in honor of the Ozark Mountain Daredevils. Both donors were inspired by the upcoming "Generations: The Ozark Mountain Daredevils & Friends" concert.

"The 'Generations' concert is a celebration of music in the Ozarks and the impact the Daredevils have had on other bands in our area," said Annah Crow, Executive Director of Event Operations at Drury. "These incredible donors were inspired by that and wanted to be involved in helping carry on the legacy for future generations of Drury students. We are so grateful to them and their gifts will make a true difference."

"Generations: The Ozark Mountain Daredevils & Friends" concert will come to the O'Reilly Family Event Center on Sept. 16, 2023. The concert will not only celebrate the deep tradition of music in the Ozarks, but will serve as the first public event to kick off the 150th anniversary of Drury, founded Sept. 25, 1873. Tickets are currently on sale and can be purchased at Drurytickets.com.

Headlining the concert will be local legends The Ozark Mountain Daredevils, joined by an impressive lineup of local bands and performers who have been deeply influenced by the Daredevils' music and the spirit of the Ozarks, including The HillBenders, Molly Healey String Project, The Shandies, Justin Larkin, Lyl Strickland and other special guests.

The Ozark Mountain Daredevils, formed in 1971, have always been indefinable in terms of music genres, producing sounds of country-rock and electric bluegrass all on the same record, writing lyrics both whimsical and poetic, singing harmonies and playing to sold-out crowds across the United States.

"Drury's 150th anniversary is a truly momentous occasion as we celebrate the legacy of Springfield's first higher educational institution. We warmly invite the entire community to join us in this joyous celebration," said Jasmine Cooper, director of university communications and media relations. "The Ozark Mountain Daredevils hold a significant place in Drury's history, and it is fitting to have them return to our campus for the 'Generations' concert to help kick off our year-long celebration. Through this celebration, we pay homage to the past generations of Drury and embark on a journey into the next 150 years of excellence."

Several members of The Daredevils were former Drury students, with two earning their degrees from the university. Reflecting on his time at Drury, John Dillon '70, a founding partner of the Daredevils, acknowledged the foundational role the university played in his musical journey. "Everything started for me at Drury. I wrote my very first song as a freshman in the old men's dorm. And the education I received, with a focus on liberal arts and the humanities, directly led to my life in music which now spans more than half a century. As a proud Drury graduate, I am honored to be a part of its 150-year celebration," said Dillon.

Public ticket sales begin on Friday, June 9 at 10:00 a.m. Tickets can be purchased online at Drurytickets.com, by calling 417-873-7000, or in person at the box office located at 935 N. Summit Ave., Springfield, MO. The box office is open Monday to Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Additionally, a VIP experience package is being offered, providing attendees with exclusive access to an event the evening prior to the concert. Priced at $75, the package includes a 90-minute presentation by Michael Kuelker, author of the book "The Ozark Mountain Daredevils - On Record," as well as an interview and Q&A session with John Dillon, Michael "Supe" Granda and Dwight Glenn. The VIP package also includes a copy of the book, the Daredevils' latest two CDs and an autographed concert poster. The presentation will take place on Friday, Sept. 15 from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., with doors opening at 6:30 p.m. Attendees will enjoy finger food and a cash bar during the event. VIP tickets can be purchased online at Drurytickets.com or by calling 417-873-7000.

Something to be aware of People need to know about new diseases that result from outdoor living. One of them is known as the 'Alpha-gal' syndrome, a sometimes-fatal disease people get from the spotted wood tick bite. A biologist friend of mine from Arkansas says that he knows of several deaths in that state which have resulted from the disease.

I won't go into much detail here about it. It is caused by a tick bite which apparently creates some kind of allergy to red meat which makes some people violently ill, when they eat red meat. That does not include pork, chicken and fish. Find out more about it on the Internet. Doctors themselves are just finding out about it, but it is going to become more prevalent. It didn't even exist ten years ago, but at least it is known to be caused by the bite of a certain species of tick. And few know the extent of the tick diseases. I think there are nearly 100 species of ticks in the United States and more than two-dozen of them are in the state of Missouri.

If you find dead deer near water, around water holes at creeks, rivers and ponds, it is likely you are finding deer killed by something called blue-tongue, or epizootic hemorrhagic disease. It is caused by a biting midge fly and prevalent in late summer when there is a drought and hot weather. Another disease you should know about is transmissible spongiform encephalopathy.

On the Internet, that disease is said to affect animals and humans and is always fatal. Look it up. It is called other diseases, scrapies in sheep, Cruetzfeldt-Jacobs disease in humans, and mad-cow disease in cattle. Humans can get the disease from eating meat from infected cattle, and thousands have, dying a horrible death they say it is worse than rabies. I have written about it on my computer site... larry-dablemontoutdoors.blogspot.com.

I beg you to go there on your computer and read it. There is much you need to know about the disease and it cannot be published in most newspapers because of a tremendous controversy. It is a topic most people are being intentionally mislead about and you will never hear the truth about it through the larger news media sources in the state.

On that site I will give you the name and testimony from an Ozarkian who has tearfully told me about seeing a brother die from it... transmissible spongiform encephalopathy. When I ask people if they have ever heard about it, most have no idea what it is. You need to know the whole story about it. I will talk about all those diseases in Mt. Vernon, Mo. on the 28th.

For me this week is catfish time. I am going to set trotlines for flathead and channel catfish. If you use live bait you can catch both species and I love tro-tlining. I want to stockpile my freezer with a legal limit of both. Then I give fresh fish to some elderly folks I know and I will use them in some community fish fries in the fall to help raise money for good causes. I myself seldom eat fish because we practically lived on fish and ducks and squirrels as a kid. But I love to catch them for others.

While I am trotlining, I will spend the night on some river gravel bar at times and catch bass on topwater lures during the day. What a time this is to be fishing, with cooling water comes hungry fish! If you like to read, my two magazines are about to be mailed out, one an outdoor magazine and one an Ozark magazine. You can get both by calling me... 417 777 5227 and the email address is lightninridge47@gmail.com. If you are as technologically unadvanced as me just write to me at Box 22, Bolivar, Mo.

POSTGAME INTERVIEW - AFTER GAME

The Tigers take on Fayette on Sept. 1 following their season opener. Would your business like to be a sponsor? A few more are needed for the live broadcasts that air each week. It's high exposure at a minimal cost to support our Tigers! Call the Herald at 417-967-2000. The newspaper can produce the 30 second spot for broadcast. They will also run during several volleyball broadcasts.
